

A good many Enoch Arden cases are turning up. Moral: when a man intends leaving home for twenty years, let him take his loving wife and family with him, and thus prevent unpleasant complications.

Whatever the rampant and beer-swilling Chicagoan may think about the woman's temperance movement, he won't make his diurnal lager safer or sweeter by insulting the ladies. Let him put this truth in his long-handled pipe and meditatively smoke it.

Brady don't see it; he knows a better way and a better thing. So he sent back that $1,000 check and labeled the owners of the Pennsylvania from elsewhere. He will probably get it and it's all right that he should. Somehow, though, it takes the romance out of the thing to an awful extent.

Not less than one hundred women have entered the medical profession regularly this year in the United States. The world moves and moves toward better things. We lose many a good and earnest soul, but the spread of things with a "relief of salvation" is then grows under all the time.

Marianne Demorest, who is high authority on the moral and social uses of fans, says: "When a New Orleans beauty becomes tired of life, she hides her face behind her fan and takes no notice of the day's doings." Sad! We infer, however, that when the mental cloud passes off she lowers or removes the spectral trinket and smiles sweetly on all beholders. How simple and touching!

One of the practical results of the prevailing temperance revival will probably be the more frequent disregard of the too-common plea of drunkenness as a palliation for crime by the judges in passing sentence. A case of this kind has already appeared in Tennessee, where the Court refused to take into consideration the fact of intoxication, which one Charles Stewart alleged as a reason why he killed his wife. This is right. When men are made to see that the act which is the source of a criminal act is held to be in itself criminal, they will be more careful about their cups.

The failure of S. H. Dunn, late Auditor of the Erie Railway, to forestall the project of President Watson to market a new loan in London by the publication of a statement exaggerating the floating debt of the road, is something to be thankful for. It turns out that the Erie owes about $3,000,000 of floating debt instead of $8,000,000, as reported by Dunn. The inspiring genius of this big lie in figures inhabits the skull of Jay Gould, and is in keeping with the majority of his operations. If the arch political Machiavelli would go offener and weep at the tomb of Fisk it might soften his heart—if he has any.

Dr. Eggleston, the "Hoosier schoolmaster," crops down on "Oliver Optic" as a story-writer for children. He says that Oliver's books "have turned many a boy's brain." Now, what the Doctor means is plain enough; there may be a huge heap of sense in it; but we are not so certain as he seems to be that "many a boy's brain" needs much "turning" in order to incline to mischief. The average boy may not be "naturally vicious," but he is naturally rambunctious, and Optic merely leads him in the way he is forced to go. By the way, are not Eggleston's books selling well just now?

Dr. Porteous takes advanced ground on the amputation question. Not net or unheard of, to be sure, but of a sort not popular with most clergymen or churches. He considers the dramatic to be the representative and chief of arts, in which he is right; and rebukes the ultra moralists for not standing by every effort made for its purification. To put down the drama is impossible and undesirable from a broad and civilized point of view; to make it cleaner and better should be the object and limit of whatever reforms are attempted in connection with it.

Many leading Massachusetts journals strongly favor Charles Francis Adams for the vacant Senate seat. No doubt he would represent the Brahminic idea of what a legislator from a moral and brainy state to the Congressional upper House should be. Yet we shouldn't wonder if Mr. Adams were elected to stay at home; the light does not seem to be organized so as to count him in. It is too late even now to have a word said for him. And, now we think of it, Ben was in Boston as a "mourner" for Sumner; was he so out of the sad event as to neglect business? Nobody thinks it.

Anna W. Russell has been refreshing our memories as to the authorship of familiar quotations. We wish she hadn't done it. There was once an American wandering in England who got to telling a story about a splendid horse which he owned and kept at home. He repeated the story so often and with such additions as his imagination suggested until he had in hand one of the most wonderful and elastic horse-lies ever constructed. Finally he came to believe the fiction himself and on starting for home he bought an expensive and elegant saddle for that same hypothetical horse. Now, see here, Anna. Those quotations have been running around without any particular claimants for many years, and we have used them so freely and frequently that we have established them, not only in our memory, but our very thought-things. In fact, Anna, we have met them and they are ours. We have evolved those verbal fancies from our adapting and reconstructing fancy and shall buy the saddle.

SUMNER'S MONUMENT.

The body of the late honored Senator has been consigned to its kindred dust and the beautiful wreaths are fast withering over the place of his rest. Had he been able to express in advance his wishes concerning the ceremonies to attend his funeral we fancy they would have accorded well with what was said and what actually transpired. Not desiring display for his own sake, he would have been, we have remembered his position before the people and the respect and love which thousands bore for him; and it is extremely unlikely he would have denied them the sad pleasure of showing this after their own fashion. No man ever belonged more really to the people at large than he. Having no wife nor children to satisfy the longings of every healthy nature, all his emotions must needs flow out to humanity in general, or else consume purposeless and useless within his own breast. To the vast and grateful family of his love, the oppressed, his sympathies went out and they became his mourners and the trustees of his sacred reputation. It was becoming that men like Holmes, Longfellow, Emerson, Mr. Sumner's personal friends and intellectual peers, should stand with uncovered heads at the foot of his flower-strewn grave; but a host were weeping beside that broken turf of those whose claims he helped to un-derive, while, possibly, from the upper heaven thousands of spirits released in advance of his were waiting to welcome him to that final freedom for the realization of whose type he worked so hard and suffered so much.

Now there is talk of building a monument to this man—of placing a shaft or a statue at the scene of his efforts and victories—the city of Washington. As we said the other day the enthusiasm for such memorials, nothing can be more credible when it crystallizes into fact, and few things more lamentable when it evaporates in idle words. Let us have such a monument, noble, simple and enduring, like his own faith in men and in God. Put it where all can get at it without a pass or the necessity of bribing a policeman. To it, when they can, let statesmen come to learn a lesson of fidelity unto death, and the nameless crowd to consider the price of liberty. How strange that we should be writing these words of a man who one week ago would have laughed with us at the idea that so soon we should propose to build a monument for him. Yet in his own phrase used in reference to the death of Lincoln, "There are no accidents in this world."

PRINCE NAPOLEON.

The traditions and hopes of a "royal house" often outlive its strength and popularity. The great Napoleon died an Emperor, although he passed away from earth in exile upon a lonely island in the midst of a terrible convulsion of nature, without a friend to receive his pining words; yet he held to the last his belief in himself as a born ruler, and trusted that his "ideas" would not cease to control France in the form of a successor in the dynasty he established. Years went by, and an adventurer bearing the same name, of the same blood, succeeded in re-establishing and occupying the vacated throne of his uncle. Nearly a score of years he sat there, the nation which this chameleon grasped by a sort of political burglary he governed at least as well as it had ever been governed before. Until the reverses of his later life Napoleon III. grew in reputation among the leaders and chief men of other nations as an able man than they had at first taken him to be, and it is no more than just to accord him the praise of having done much good in France. The story of his ultimate defeat and fall is too well known and too recent to need recapitulation here. Now his son, the Prince Napoleon, has attained his eighteenth year and to him the hopes and expectations of the imperialists naturally turn. The young man has not developed as yet any qualities upon which his future can be safely predicted; but there is time enough for that. At the Chislehurst election the other day he said in a few modest words—evidently put into his mouth for the occasion, and with an eye to the wide publication that would be likely to receive—that he was willing to submit his claims to the throne of France to a plebiscite, or vote of the people. This proposition is safe enough to make just now, inasmuch as such a step cannot be taken without a vote at any time in the near future; the temper and strength of the administration being a sufficient guaranty for that. What coming years may bring forth is easier to predict of any other nation than of the French. There the rule of contraries seems to hold, the most unlikely events being the surest to happen. MacMahon's term of seven years may increase republican sentiment, or the whole pseudo-republican structure may topple over in one of those gusts of popular excitement which have blown away its like before. In any case, we hope for his own sake that there will be no Napoleon IV. Quite as much as other imperial families the Bonapartes have reason to remember that

"Caesar is the head which wears a crown."

Persons with bandaged heads now are generally recognized as poets who have attempted variations of "Come, gentle spring." —"Abe" tells remarkably an Indian-apolo editor, "I've got an old owl perched without aid of any of these heavy gnomes on my nose." —When they find a man in Washington who hasn't a plan of his own for the solution of the financial problem they drown him. No one has been drowned yet. —Boxes for the reception of reading matter which passengers have done with have been placed in the Boston railroad stations, for the benefit of the inmates of the hospitals. —A floridian heard the other day for the first time the story of David and Goliath, and he became so enthusiastic that he swung his hat and called out: "Bully for the fellow with the sling!" —The heart of a man is said to weigh nine ounces, and the heart of a woman only eight. And yet, as a rule, women are not lighter-hearted than men. —Even with an octagonal watch, unless a man has a mouse-colored horse and yellow sleigh, he can only skimpish on the outskirts of good society. —Rural rhetoric. A country girl in Kentucky, who had a quarrel with a lover, remarked to a friend that "she wasn't on squeezing terms with that fraud any more." —Detroit Press: A subscriber wants us to tell him how old Jane Swissham is, but we aren't going to reply "three hundred years," and have her suing for libel because the figures were too low. —A jute spinning mill at Dundee was destroyed by fire a day or two ago. The glare of the conflagration alarmed the whole city, and a crowd of 20,000 people surrounded the burning edifice. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and 700 hands are thrown out of employment. —They are so queer out West: A Prairie dog Chien laid, given in honor of a wedding, began at ten o'clock one morning and lasted until the next daylight. When it closed the bride was drunk and the husband had been taken to jail for beating the guests. —An urban went to a barber's shop and requested the barber to cut his hair as short as shears could cut it. He was asked if his mother had ordered it in that way. "No," replied he, "school begins next week, and we have got a new schoolmistress that pulls hair."

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Reduction of the Army. —WASHINGTON, March 17.—The House Committee on Military Affairs today perfected their bill for the reduction of the army. They propose to cut off five regiments of infantry, one of cavalry and one of artillery, gradually, by the 1st of January, 1875, the number of enlisted men to be 25,000, such officers as they prefer before that time to receive a year's pay. —PHILIPPS' CASE. —ALBANY, March 17.—Counsel for Phelps, charged with bribery from the State Treasurer's office, was moved for the postponement of his trial until the next year and Terminus, on the ground that a material witness has disappeared with important papers in his possession. Counsel thinks that the witness can be produced by the time the next year and Terminus sits. District Attorney Moak opposed the motion. —LAUREL FIRE. —Loss One Hundred Thousand Dollars. —PITTSBURGH, March 17.—A fire broke out in the Oil Exchange Hotel, Major City, Pa., today and destroyed thirty-five buildings, including the Oil Exchange and Bateman hotels. Loss estimated at $100,000. —THE WEATHER. —To-day's Probabilities. —For the Middle States southerly to southeasterly winds, high temperature and clearing weather. —Boston has so much red tape in its Poor office, that it takes five days to send a piece of potatoes to a starving family, and by that time the family have either been supplied with turkey or are over the valley.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

Damaged by Ice.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The steamship State of Alabama, from Glasgow for New York, was ice-bound four days and had several of her low-pieces crushed. She put into Halifax with seven feet of water in the fore and main holds and had her propeller and rudder damaged.

A CASUAL CAPTAIN CHARGED WITH A MURDER.

THOMAS Cummings, captain of the canal boat Perry, of Caniluis, Onondaga county, New York, was put under $2,000 bail on a charge of having abducted Hamilton Hoffman, aged 8 years. The child, who is still missing, was on the 11th inst. playing on the pier at the foot of West Forty-Sixth street when defendant, it is charged, fetched her on his boat and she has not been seen since.

ANOTHER ERIE DISCOVERY.

The Erie investigating committee report discovering that for four months the books have been taken out of the Auditor's office, night after night, and that the floating debt is $2,000,000 instead of $8,000,000, as asserted by the retiring Auditor Dana. They claim to have discovered other evidences of a conspiracy. —The Commissioners of Emigration discharged twenty-one employees, including the clerks of the German and Irish emigration societies, Deputy Superintendent and Chief Clerk of Ward's Island, and the Auditor of the New York and Erie Railroad. The other commissioners continued their action was illegal.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PRECESSION.

The St. Patrick's procession, headed by the Sixty-Ninth Regiment, arrived at the City Hall half-past two. It took one hour and twenty minutes to pass the City Hall, marching closely and somewhat fast on account of the rain, and numbered between 15,000 and 20,000. There were not so many carriages as on previous occasions, but the procession was fully as large. It passed along the avenue in good order without incident of any note or disturbance of any kind, or a single arrest taking place and was dismissed at Cooper Institute by the Grand Marshal, when it broke up and dispersed in an orderly and peaceable manner. —Reports from Albany, Ithaca, Newburgh and other cities of New York, as well as New England, and the South and the Pacific coast indicate that the day was universally celebrated and the universally free from unpleasant features other than the rainy weather.

GENERAL FOREIGN CASES.

The Fifth Army Corps, which Fitz John Porter commanded, has initiated a united movement to obtain a new trial for Porter. It is stated the testimony of Lee and Longstreet exonerates him from the charges on which he was cashiered. —The Chicago ladies, notwithstanding their failure with the City Council and brutal treatment by the mob yesterday, announce their intention of carrying on the fight against liquor. —The Dayton ladies continue the work. This is the eleventh day without a distinct conquest. The liquor dealers propose a straight fight at the spring election. —At Toledo, O., the temperance excitement is increasing. Meetings are held nightly. —At Providence, R. I., the ministers today held a conference and resolved to memorialize the state and city governments in favor of temperance and recommend the churches to take the movement the subject of public and private prayer and visit liquor dealers and property owners privately. Nothing from the ladies thus far. —At Williamsport, Pa., the ladies on a visitation expedition encountered 200 or 300 Germans in the street to whom larger was being served from a wagon. The Germans became hostile to the ladies, and threw tomatoes at them. Two were arrested before the police could quiet the disturbance. This has greatly damaged the liquor men and strengthened the ladies.

THE GREAT PARISS CASE.

In the case of the Grant Parish prisoners on trial at New Orleans one was acquitted and the jury disagreed as to the remainder. —A CREVASSE ON THE MISSISSIPPI. —A crevasse on the Mississippi River above Vicksburg Friday last became formidable. A dozen or more large plantations were inundated and the water stopped trains on the Vicksburg & Shoreport Railroad. —THE LION AND THE LAMB. —In Baltimore two colored soldiers with their own hands formed part of the St. Patrick's Day procession.

REVENUE REFORM.

The Chamber of Commerce holds a public meeting on Wednesday next week to hear the report of the committee who appeared before the Committee of Ways and Means on the subject of revenue reform.

The Sons of St. Patrick banqueting at Delmonico's to-night, Judge Bradley presiding. Mayor Havemeyer, Charles O'Connor, Benjamin K. Phelps, Hugh Hastings and others replied to toasts.

ANOTHER BROOKLYN SUICIDE.

Mrs. Frances Edw. wife of a respectable citizen of Brooklyn, committed suicide to-night by cutting her throat with a razor while laboring under a depression of spirits.

A VOLCANO IN NORTH CAROLINA.

People fleeing in terror from their houses. —NEW YORK, March 17.—A special dispatch reports great excitement at Raleigh over the fact that Bald Mountain, in the western part of North Carolina, is in a state of volcanic eruption.

REASON, N. C., March 17.—It is stated that farm houses and cottages along the sides of Bald Mountain have been invaded by convulsions, and many of the inhabitants have fled. A thin vapor issues from the top of the mountain; a low rumbling sound is audible over the entire surface, and snow melts as fast as it falls. A messenger has arrived at Raleigh in quest of some scientific man to make investigation.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 17. —After some debate the record was corrected so that Stewart of Nevada should be a member of the joint select committee to investigate the District of Columbia affairs and not of Christiana thereof. —The bill to regulate the distribution of national bank currency was taken up and Logan of Illinois spoke in favor of an increased circulation and free banking. —The Senate at half-past five adjourned till to-morrow.

HOUSE.

After a conflict for precedence between the cheap transportation bill, the legislation on appropriation bill and the contested election case the House at two o'clock went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Woodford of New York, in the chair, on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. —Mr. Willard, of Vermont, called attention to the inequality of compensation provided for the members of the House for those of the various other departments of the government, and offered various amendments for reduction of the pay of door-keepers and messengers, and the Capitol grounds and grounds. —In the course of the discussion on one of the amendments, Mr. Spear, of Pennsylvania, having moved pro tempore to reduce an item of $1,000 each, United States Marshal, Brookport 18 at a cost of $1,500 each; Fredonia 10 at a cost of $2,246 each; Cortland 34 at a cost of $700 each; Potsdam 15 at a cost of $1,000 each; and 23 at a cost of $900 each. Mr. Spear said that he made the motion to strike out simply for the purpose of presenting these amendments and not with the design of pressing his amendment to a vote. —He then withdrew his motion. —Mr. JOHNSON renewed the motion to strike out the items for creating the office of the friends of academies had been making for the appropriation of $125,000. —After a long discussion upon this bill the Senate adjourned.

The Daily Freeman.

Kingston, Wednesday Morning, March 18

A good many Enoch Arden cases are turning up now. A man who has been leaving home for twenty years, let him take his loving wife and family with him, and thus prevent unpleasant complications.

Whatever the rampant and beer-swilling Chicagoans may think about the woman's temperance movement, he won't make his diurnal lager savor or sweeter by insulting the ladies. Let him put this truth in his long-handled pipe and meditatively smoke it.

Brady don't see it; he knows a better way and seems a bigger thing. So he sent back that $1,000 check and libeled the owners of the Pennsylvania from salvage. It will probably get it all right that he should. Somewhat, though, it takes the romance out of the thing to an awful extent.

Not less than one hundred women have entered the medical profession regularly in the United States. The world moves and moves toward better things. We lose many a good and earnest soul, but the spread of things with a "relish of salvation" is then grows under all the time.

Madame Demorest, who is high authority on the moral and social uses of fans, says: "When a New Orleans beauty becomes tired of life, she hides her face behind her fan and takes no notice of the day's doings." Sad! We infer, however, that when the moral and cloud passes off the lowers or removes the spiritual trinket and smiles sweetly on all beholders. How simple and touching!

One of the practical results of the prevailing temperance revolution is probably the more frequent disregard of the too-common plea of drunkenness as a palliation for crime by the judges in passing sentence. A case of this kind has already appeared in Tennessee, where the Court refused to take into consideration the fact of intoxication, which one Charles Stewart alleged as a reason why he killed his wife. This is right. When men are made to see that the act which is the source of a criminal act is held to be in itself criminal, they will be more careful about their cups.

The failure of S. H. Dunn, late Auditor of the Erie Railway, to furnish the report of President Watson to market a new loan in London by the publication of a statement exaggerating the floating debt of the road, is something to be thankful for. It turns out that the Erie owes about $3,000,000 of floating debt instead of $8,000,000, as reported by Dunn. The inspiring genius of this big lie in figures inhabits the skull of Jay Gould, and is in keeping with the majority of his operations. If the arch politician Maciavelli would go offener and weep at the tomb of Fisk it might soften his heart—if he has any.

Dr. Eggleston, the "Hoosier schoolmaster," drops down on "Oliver Twist" as a story-writer for children. He says that Oliver's books "have turned many a boy's brain." Now, what the Doctor means is plain enough. To say that there is a huge heap of sense in it; but we are not half so certain as he seems to be that "many a boy's brain" needs such "turning" in order to incline to mischief. The average boy may not be "naturally vicious," yet he is naturally rambunctious, and Oliver merely leads him in the way he is foreordained to go. By the way, are not Eggleston's books selling well just now?

Dr. Porteous takes advanced ground on the amusement question. Not new or unheard of, to be sure, but of a sort not popular with clergymen or churches. He considers the dramatic to be the representative and chief art, in which he is right; and rebukes the ultra moralists for not standing by every effort made for its purification. To put down the drama is impossible and undesirable from a broad and civilized point of view; to make it cleaner and better should be the object and limit of whatever reforms are attempted in connection with it.

Many leading Massachusetts journals strongly favor Charles Francis Adams for the vacant Senatorship. No doubt he would represent the Brahminic ideal of what a legislator from a moral and brainy state to the Congressional upper House should be. Yet we shouldn't forget that Mr. Adams was expelled from home; the fight does not seem to be organized so as to count him in. It lies between Ihur and Daves—and Butler takes Hoar. And, now we think of it, Den was in Boston as a "mourner" for Sumner; was he so cut up by the sad event as to neglect business? Nobody thinks it.

Anna W. Russell has been refreshing our memories as to the authorship of familiar quotations. We wish she hadn't done it. There was once an American wandering in Europe who got to telling a story about a splendid horse which he owned and kept at home. He repeated the yarn so often and with such additions as his imagination suggested until he had in hand one of the most wonderful and classic horse tales constructed. Finally he came to believe the fiction himself and on starting for home he bought an expensive and elegant saddle for that same hypothetical horse. Now, see here, Anna. Those quotations have been running around; without any particular claimants for many years, and we have used them so freely and frequently that we have established them, not only in our memory, but our very thought-floors. In fact, Anna, we have met them and they are ours. We have evolved those verbal horses from our adapting and reconstructing fancy and shall buy the saddle.

Summer's Monument.
The body of the late honored Senator has been consigned to its kindred dust and the beautiful wreaths arched withering over the place of his rest. Had he been able to express in advance his wishes concerning the ceremonies to attend his funeral, he would have wanted to be buried in his own country, and what actually transpired. Not desiring display for his own sake, he would, nevertheless, have remembered his position before the people and the respect and love which thousands of his countrymen had for him, and he would have wanted to be buried in his own country, and what actually transpired. Not desiring display for his own sake, he would, nevertheless, have remembered his position before the people and the respect and love which thousands of his countrymen had for him, and he would have wanted to be buried in his own country, and what actually transpired.

Now there is talk of building a monument to this man—of placing a statue or a statue to the scene of his efforts and virtues—the city of Washington. As we said the other day of the enthusiasm for such memorials, nothing can be more creditable when it crystallizes in to fact; and few things more lamentable when it evaporates in idle words. Let us have such a monument, noble, simple and enduring, like his own faith in men and in God. Put it where all can get at it without a pass or the necessity of bribing a policeman. To it, when they can, let statemen come and learn a lesson of fidelity to duty; and the nameless crowd to consider the price of liberty. How strange that we should be writing these words of a man who one week ago would have laughed with us at the idea that we should propose to build a monument for him. Yet in his own phrase used in reference to the death of Lincoln, "There are no accidents in this world."

Princess Napoleon.

The traditions and hopes of a "royal house" often outlive its strength and popularity. The great Napoleon died an Emperor, although he passed away from earth in exile upon a lonely island in the midst of a terrible convulsion of nature, without a friend to receive his pining words; yet he held to the last his faith in himself as a born ruler, and trusted that his name should remain to control France in the form of a successor in the dynasty he established. Years went by, and an adventurer bearing the same name, of the same blood, succeeded in re-upholstering and occupying the vacated throne of his uncle. Nearly a score of years he sat there, the nation which this character grasped by a sort of political burglary he governed at least as well as it had ever been governed before. Until the reverses of his later life Napoleon III. grew in reputation among the heads and chief men of other nations as an ablest man that they had ever taken into the world, and it is more than just to accord him the praise of having done much good in France. The story of his ultimate defeat and fall is too well known and too recent to need recapitulation here. Now his son, the Prince Napoleon, has attained his eighteenth year and to him the hopes and expectations of the nation are naturally turned. The young man has not developed as yet any qualities upon which his future can be safely predicted; but there is time enough for that. At the Chislehurst celebration the other day he said in a few modest words—evidently put into his mouth for the occasion, and that when the people naturally turn. A CANAL CAPTAIN CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION.
Thomas Cummings, captain of the canal boat Perry, of Camillus, Onondaga county, New York, was put under $2,000 bail on a charge of having abducted Hamilton Hoffman, aged 8 years. The child, who is still missing, was on the 11th inst. playing on the pier at the foot of West Forty-sixth street when defendant, it is charged, carried her on his boat and she has not since been seen.

ANOTHER EYE DISCLOSURE.
The Erie investigating committee report discovering that for four months the books have been taken out of the Auditor's office, night after night, and that the floating debt is $2,000,000 instead of $8,000,000, as asserted by the retiring Auditor, Dunn. They claim to have discovered other evidences of a conspiracy.

CURRENT TOPICS.

It is called the new battle of Brandywine now.

—Kansas Grangers demand the passage of prohibitory liquor laws.

—The Tribune nominates Charles Francis Adams for Senator Sumner's seat.

—The Springfield Republican has produced the best pun of the season. It wonders if Jay Gould will Erieatone Union Pacific.

—Probably the health of Bismarck is now watched with greater anxiety than that of any other man in Europe.

—The Courier-Journal thinks Mark Twain could do as much for the West as Oliver Twist.

—The Boston Herald says that he and John Morrissey have made everything lovely, but says their little hatchets are still lacking away at each other.

—The Brooklyn Argus continues its good fight for reform. It now opposes the distribution of diamond breastpins among the privates of the army.

—A clerk on Mare Island discovered how $10,000 could be saved and reported to his chief, and now his place is vacant. The next clerk won't report the leak—he'll pocket the money.

—A Boston paper thinks some of the Brooklyn preachers draw their inspiration from a brand and civilized point of view; to make it cleaner and better should be the object and limit of whatever reforms are attempted in connection with it.

—The New York Evening Post is trying to prove that Butler is legally out of the office of Congressman, as he has been retained by the government in the case of Weld & Co.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—Persons with bandaged heads now are generally recognized as poets who have attained variations of "Come, gentle spring."

—An "old" tellingly remarks an Indianapolis editor, "We can get out our paper without aid of any of those besy onium oompostors."

—When they find a man in Washington who hasn't a plan of his own for the solution of the financial problem they drown him. No one has been drowned there yet.

—Buses for the reception of reading matter which passengers have done with have been placed in the Boston railroad stations, for the benefit of the inmates of the hospitals.

—A Floridian heard the other day for the first time the story of David and Goliath, and he became so enthusiastic that he swung his hat and called out: "Bully for the fellow with the sling!"

—The head of a man is said to weigh nine ounces, and the heart of a woman eight. And yet, as a rule, women are not lighter-hearted than men.

—Even with an octagonal watch, unless a man has a mouse-colored horse and yellow sleigh, he can only skimish on the outskirts of good society.

—Rural rhetoric. A country girl in Kentucky, who had a quarrel with a lover, remarked to a friend that "she wasn't on squeezing terms with that furrin' any more."

—Detroit Free Press: A subscriber wants us to tell him how old Jane Swisshelm is, and we aren't going to reply "three hundred years," and have her suing for libel because the figures were too low.

—A jute spinning mill at Dundee was destroyed by fire a day or two ago. The glare of the conflagration alarmed the whole city, and a crowd of 20,000 people surrounded the burning edifice. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and 700 hands are thrown out of employment.

—They are so queer out West: A Prairie du Chien ball, given in honor of a wedding, broke at ten o'clock one morning and lasted until the next daylight. When it closed the bride was drunk and the husband had been taken for beating the guests.

—An archer went to a barber's shop and requested the barber to cut his hair as short as shears could do it. He was asked if he was waiting to welcome him to that final freedom for the realization of whose type he worked so hard and suffered so much.

—Now there is talk of building a monument to this man—of placing a statue or a statue to the scene of his efforts and virtues—the city of Washington. EMIGRANT COMMISSIONERS' EMPLOYEES DISCHARGED.

The Commissioners of Emigration discharged twenty-one employees, including the clerks of the German and Irish emigration societies, Deputy Superintendent and Chief Clerk of Ward's Island Bureau.

For four commissioners being present, the other commissioners could not be present.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PROCESSION.

The St. Patrick's procession, headed by the Sixty-Ninth Regiment, arrived at the City Hall half-past two. It took one hour and twenty minutes to pass the City Hall, marching closely and somewhat fast on account of the rain, and numbered between 15,000 and 20,000.

There were so many carriages as on previous occasions, but the procession was fully at large. It passed along the advertised route without incident of any note or disturbance of any kind, or a single arrest taking place and was dismissed at Cooper Institute by the Grand Marshal, when it broke up and dispersed in an orderly and peaceable manner.

REPORTS FROM ALBANY, ITHACA, NEWBURGH AND OTHER CITIES OF NEW YORK, as well as New England, the South and on the Pacific coast indicate that the day was universally celebrated and universally free from unpleasant features other than the ordinary weather.

GENERAL PORTER'S CASE.

The Fifth Army Corps, which Fitz John Porter commands, has been ordered to a united movement to obtain a new trial for Porter. It is stated the testimony of Lee and Longstreet exonerates him from the charges on which he was cashiered.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

The Chicago ladies, notwithstanding their failure with the City Council and brutal treatment by the mob yesterday, announce their intention of carrying on the fight against saloons in April.

The Dayton ladies continue the work. This is the eleventh day without a distinct clash. The liquor dealers propose a straight fight at the spring election.

At Toledo, O., the temperance excitement is increasing. Meetings are held nightly.

At Providence, R. I., the ministers to-day held a conference and resolved to be for the state and city governments in favor of temperance and recommend the churches to make the movement the subject of public and private prayer and visit liquor dealers and property owners privately. Nothing from the ladies thus far.

At Williamsport, Pa., the ladies on a visitation expedition encountered 200 or 300 Germans in the street to whom liquor was being served from a wagon. The Germans became abusive to the ladies, and three tumblers at them. Two were arrested before the police could quiet the disturbance. This has greatly damaged the liquor men and strengthened the ladies.

THE GRANT PARISH CASE.

In the case of the Grant Parish prisoners on trial at New Orleans one was acquitted and the jury disagreed as to the remainder.

A CREVASSE ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

A crevasse on the Mississippi River above Vicksburg Friday last became formidable. A dozen or more large plantations were inundated and the water stopped trains on the Vicksburg & Shreveport Railroad.

THE LION AND THE LAMB.

In Baltimore two colored societies with their bands formed a part of the St. Patrick's Day procession.

REVENUE REFORM.

The Chamber of Commerce holds a public meeting on Wednesday of next week to hear the report of the committee who appeared before the Committee of Ways and Means on the subject of revenue reform.

BAQUET OF THE SONS OF ST. PATRICK.

ANOTHER BROOKLYN SUICIDE.

Mrs. Frances Bidwell, wife of a respectable citizen of Brooklyn, committed suicide to-night by cutting her throat with a razor while laboring under a depression of spirits.

A VOLCANO IN NORTH CAROLINA.

People fleeing in terror from their houses.

New York, March 17.—A special dispatch reports great excitement at Raleigh over the fact that Bald Mountain, in the western part of North Carolina, is in a state of volcanic eruption.

Raleigh, N. C., March 17.—It is stated that houses and cottages along the sides and base of Bald Mountain have been prostrated by convulsions, and many of the inhabitants have fled. A thin vapor issues from the top of the mountain; a low rumbling sound is audible over the entire surface, and snow melts as fast as it falls. A messenger has arrived at Raleigh in quest of some scientific man to make investigation.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 17.

After some debate the record was corrected so that Stewart of Nevada should be a member of the joint select committee to investigate the District of Columbia affairs instead of Christian thereof.

The majority has the distinction of national bank currency was taken up on the floor of Illinois spoke in favor of an increased circulation and free banking.

The Senate at half-past five adjourned till to-morrow.

HOUSE.

After a conflict for precedence between the cheap transportation bill, the legislative appropriation bill and the contested election case the House at two o'clock went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Woodford of New York, in the chair, on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. Willard, of Vermont, called attention to the inequality of compensation provided for officials of Congress and for those of the various other departments of the government.

He offered various amendments for reduction of the pay of door-keepers and messengers in the Capitol, all of which were rejected.

In the course of the discussion on one of the amendments, Mr. Spear, of Pennsylvania, having moved pro forma to reduce an item of $10,000 and it having been referred to by the Chairman, Mr. Speaker, he expressed a considerable indignation against members on the Democratic side of the House, who, while preaching economy, voted against all propositions to reduce expenses.

He also alluded to the Chairman as one who professed to be largely in the pocket of the moneyed interests in the House of Representatives.

Mr. COX joined in the discussion and declared that language was inadequate to express the indignation which he felt against the members of the House who were in the pocket of the moneyed interests in the House of Representatives.

Mr. LINCOLN, to whom Spear had alluded, said that he had never adopted the policy of watching the piglet while the bumble-bee ran along.

He said that he was not in the pocket of the moneyed interests in the House of Representatives.

Mr. LINCOLN, to whom Spear had alluded, said that he had never adopted the policy of watching the piglet while the bumble-bee ran along.

He said that he was not in the pocket of the moneyed interests in the House of Representatives.

Mr. COX joined in the discussion and declared that language was inadequate to express the indignation which he felt against the members of the House who were in the pocket of the moneyed interests in the House of Representatives.

BUSINESS NOTICE.
We are happy to announce to our patrons that we have secured the well-known Premium Job Printer, Mr. A. V. HAIGHT, late of Ellenville, who will hereafter have entire charge of the Job Printing Department of the Freeman establishment. Mr. Haight's skill and taste are too well known to need any recommendation from us. We are now prepared to do the finest kinds of Job Printing at reasonable rates.

CITY NOTES.

—Mr. Frank McLoughlin, of South Rondout, has been appointed agent of the Victor Sewing Machine Company.

—John Schmitzer, has added to his menagerie the black bear that grew up on board the ferryboat Lar.

—The statement that Rev. Dr. Hageman had been tendered a call by the Second Reformed Church of this city was erroneous.

—Great regret was generally expressed yesterday at the unpleasant weather. The fine parade would have been all the finer had the day been fair.

—There has been more temperance talked since Friday night's meeting in the lower part of the city than there has been in the same space of time in five years.

—One of the most gratifying features of St. Patrick's parade was the large number of temperance men in the ranks. The temperance organizations turned out 574 strong.

—It is stated as a positive fact that since the organization of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society the dealers on Division Street who used to sell gallons of liquor now only dispose of pints.

—It was a remarkable fact that every Irish lassie picked out her beau in the procession at a single glance. Considering that they all wore the same badges it is certainly wonderful how the girls discovered them so easily.

—A lady who wanted an advertisement in The Freeman the other day wanted to know if we didn't always give a "little squint" about the advertisement. The book-keeper couldn't give a squint, but burst out laughing.

—Excelsior Hose Company No. 4 will give a sociable at Voorhees' Hall, Friday evening, the 20th inst. Bargain's hall will furnish the music, and every arrangement will be made to make this the best of the season.

—A gentle looking young chap, a stranger in these parts, played billiards in Hirschberg's saloon on Monday evening, and a certain number of the law who intended to take that stranger in, but they were taken in by the lawyer to the tune of $25.

—There was a skirmish between two men on Lackawanna street on Tuesday afternoon, during which it was said one of the combatants "had an eye kicked out of him," but it was not proven to be true, we are glad to state.

—The express companies in this city are doing their utmost to outstrip each other; not only has the price been put down in some instances to nearly one-half the old rates, but upon the agents will actually come in and help the merchant pack his goods for shipment in order to secure his patronage.

—One of the busiest men upon our sidewalks is Silo Wood. He has no corner opened that new store that he was called for jury duty, and has served faithfully during court. Between times, however, he circulates behind the counter, and as a living personification of the mercantile motto, "Quick sale and — profits."

Corner Lovers.
Charles Dickens said that "the first eternal revelation of the dry rot in man is a tendency toward the corners." It is a tendency toward the corners, to be at street corners without intelligible reason, to be going anywhere when met, to be about many places rather than any, to do nothing tangible, but to have an intention of performing a number of tangible duties to-morrow or the day after."

Music's Chorus.
During the time of the People vs. David Smith Tuesday morning, part of the St. Patrick's procession moved up Wall street, and a band of music was playing a march. The music was so much confused, the Judge was forced to suspend operations. The jury immediately climbed up in the windows and on the top of the high seats to see the show. In this highly dignified situation they continued until the procession had moved by and then took their seats, when the trial proceeded. We have no longer a doubt that music hath charms to soothe the savage breast.

Personal.

Mr. William H. DeGarmo, the new landlord of the Mansion House, arrived in the city on Tuesday and assumed the reins of government of that hostelry, which will be proceeded to re-furnish, re-paper and re-conduct in such a manner that guests will literally take their ease at that inn.

Jacob Van Deusen is suffering from a slight attack of paralysis. He has gone to New York for rest and medical treatment.

Washington Hall Last Night.
Owing to the storm of last evening and the fatigue attendant on the parade, beside the people who were in the city of the Washington Hall, drew off the attendance on Monday evening, but what it lacked in number it made up for in enthusiasm. Miss Lang, on her first appearance, sang "Killarney" with great success and was greeted by an enthusiastic encore, to which she gave "I should like to," then another encore and "Going to join the army," and still they came—the encores—then she sang "Squeeze me, Joe," and amid the applause of the house she refused to appear in any more. John O'Neil gave one of his inimitable renderings of the essence of old negro peculiarities as only he can do it, and receiving an encore he further astonished and delighted the audience by a repetition. Miss Viola Campbell sang "The hat that once through Tara's halls" with great feeling, and being encored gave that very popular Irish melody, "The mistle to the war has gone." Miss Sadie O'Neil was a light foot and graceful in the dance, and in a particularly good humor. The troupe appear at the Opera House in Poughkeepsie to-night, and we wish them success.

Celebration of St. Patrick's Day in This City.

In accordance with the prognostications of "Old Probabilities" Tuesday made its advent with a drizzling rain, causing the condition of the streets to be anything but conducive to agreeable marching for the organizations which composed the procession. Before alluding to what was done in this city on Tuesday, to celebrate St. Patrick's Day, we would say a word in honor of St. Patrick. According to the best encyclopedia he was a distinguished missionary of the fifth century, originally known as the Apostle of Ireland. Although Irishmen celebrate the 17th of March, there is some uncertainty as to the date and place of his birth. It is believed, however, that St. Patrick was born somewhere in the neighborhood of Boulogne, in the ancient Armorica Britain. In the year 413, an Irish monk, New of the name of St. Patrick, escaped from the monastery of his birth, and came to Gaul, and St. Patrick, then in his sixteenth year, was taken prisoner and carried to Ireland, where he was purchased as a slave by a person residing in that part of the country now called Antrim. Here his duty was to tend sheep, and his lonely occupation in the forest and mountain back of the depth of feeling which afterwards inspired his future life. He spent six years as a shepherd, and he made his escape to the southwestern coast, where he was welcomed by the natives and ready to sail. Soon after his arrival among his friends, he entered a monastery or college at Tours, where he spent four years, and it is believed, embraced the ecclesiastical profession. But his active mind was not fitted for the cloister, and his imagination dwelt with fervor upon the country of his captivity. He frequently dreamed that he was invited to return in the name of the Irish people. He did not, however, arrive in Ireland for the second time until 1822. Landing at Dublin, he set out with his followers for that part of the country where so many of his youthful years had been spent. On their way they were taken for sea robbers or pirates, and were attacked by a chief named Dicho and his followers. The holy and benignant countenance of the Saint is said to have produced so powerful an effect upon Dicho as to have changed his destructive purposes, and Dicho soon became his first Christian convert. Here St. Patrick celebrated his first Mass, and he was called Patrick, or Patrick's barn. In the year 431 he went to Rome, where he was sent again by the Pope of the day, Celestine, to preach in Ireland. He did great work there, founding nearly 400 churches, and baptizing with his own hand 12,000 persons. He died at a place called Downpatrick, where his relics were preserved down to the period of the reformation, the place being still much venerated by the people of that country.

At the hour to form on Wall street, with the right of march on the rain was coming steadily down, but as some very slight indications of clearing away were manifest, it was deemed advisable to defer the formation of the procession until the weather pronounced itself, which it did most emphatically for rain, between eleven and twelve, when the different organizations marched to Wall street, and there, under the direction of Grand Marshal Lieut. Col. Flynn and his aides, Messrs. Thos. J. Leonard, James Fields, Stephen Conwell, John Day and Terence O'Reilly, Jr., line was formed in the following order:

Citizens' Brass Band, Saugerties; Company F, 5th Regiment, Captain P. Gill; United Engineers' Water and Cross Assistant Engineer, Captain and Supervisor Melon in carriage; Marine Hook and Ladder Co. Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made of our greatest herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative, well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion, Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are: Appetite, Diaphoretic, Cathartic, Nutritive, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fortified.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Serofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Gout, Serofulous Inflammations, Indolent Abscesses, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiating Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Painters, Typographers, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Itch, Blisters, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiating Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

VOLUME FOR 1871.

THE CULTIVATOR AND COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, for the past forty years, has ranked both in this country and abroad as the best and most useful of American Agricultural Journals. The Editors and Proprietors, assisted by a very large number of Special Correspondents and Regular Contributors, among whom are included many of the leading agriculturists, in all parts of the country, east and west—and by over Five Hundred Correspondents and Regular Contributors, directly in the ranks of the best Farmers and Horticulturists of every county in the Union.

With the co-operation of so large a corps of practical men, this Journal is intended to possess exceptional value as the chosen medium of information among all classes interested in the Production and Fertility of the land—those who cultivate and those who consume—the buyer and the seller, as well as the first owner of the crop and the manufacturer of improved machinery and those who purchase and employ it—husbandmen and fruit raisers—and, especially, to supply fuller and better data to the "Progressive, practical and returns of each successive season, as throwing light upon the most important of all questions—When to buy and when to sell.

With the following terms, when paid yearly in advance—One copy, one year, $2.00; Four copies, $7.00, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten copies, $20.00, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, FACTS SWORN TO.

Dr. J. P. FORTNA—Being sworn, says, I graduated at the Medical College of New York, and have since practiced my profession in the city of New York. I have seen and treated many cases of Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, &c., and have found that the only reliable remedy is Dr. F. J. FORTNA'S VEGETABLE RHEUMATIC SYRUP. I can assure you that this medicine is the only one that will cure these diseases, and it is the only one that is pure and safe. I have used it myself, and I have seen it used by many others, and I can assure you that it is the only one that will cure these diseases, and it is the only one that is pure and safe. I have used it myself, and I have seen it used by many others, and I can assure you that it is the only one that will cure these diseases, and it is the only one that is pure and safe.

W. F. GERRIN of Essex Co., N. Y., writes: "I have used Dr. F. J. FORTNA'S VEGETABLE RHEUMATIC SYRUP, and I can assure you that it is the only one that will cure these diseases, and it is the only one that is pure and safe. I have used it myself, and I have seen it used by many others, and I can assure you that it is the only one that will cure these diseases, and it is the only one that is pure and safe."

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable Preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative, well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion, Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia! One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Painting and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetters, Salt Rheum, Itch, Scabies, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scour, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectively destroyed, and a new system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display a decided influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
